

WEST VISAYAS STATE UNIVERSITY
Lambunao Campus
COLLEGE OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE EDUCATION
Lambunao, Iloilo

Geldon Murga, Critita Paniagua, Jeffrey Pañada, Ian Paris, and Alvin Provideo

Factors Affecting Performance of Criminology Students in Disarming Techniques.
Unpublished Undergraduate Thesis, Bachelor of Science in Criminology, West
Visayas State University – Lambunao Campus, Lambunao, Iloilo, September 2017

Abstract

This study aimed to know the factors affecting performance of criminology students in disarming techniques of West Visayas State University-Lambunao Campus for school year 2014-2015. The respondents of the study were the 30 3rd year criminology students the study used the descriptive research design. Mental and physical condition were the most preferred factors affecting the performance of criminology students in disarming techniques. The students had a high extent of factors affecting the mental and physical ability in disarming techniques. The students had a very good performance level in disarming techniques.